Animal Helpers Goes Under the Sea in Aquariums

Mt. Pleasant, SC (February 1, 2014) -- Dive with dolphins, otters, jellyfish, weedy sea dragons and other extraordinary underwater creatures in the pages of author Jennifer Keats Curtis newest title, Animal Helpers: Aquariums, set to release February 2014.

Aquariums is the fourth book in the Animal Helpers series, which strives to help young readers learn how humans help conserve and care for wild animals in different settings. Thanks to gorgeous photos and details from experts at six aquariums from around the country, Curtis ably takes readers behind the scenes to show the special challenges that staff and volunteers face in taking care of these aquatic critters.

The conservation efforts of aquariums is not often on display for patrons to see; however, by participating and ensuring the accuracy of this book, Curtis enables each of these organizations—The Florida Aquarium, Georgia Aquarium, Monterey Bay Aquarium, National Aquarium, Shedd Aquarium and Tennessee Aquarium—to use this book in their fundraising efforts to continue these programs.

Curtis is an award-winning nature author frequently found among students and teachers talking about literacy or conservation. In addition to the Animal Helpers series, Baby Owl's Rescue, and Turtles in My Sandbox for Sylvan Dell, some of her other recent titles include Osprey Adventure, Saving Squeak: A River Otter's Tale, and Seahorses. Jennifer resides in Maryland, with her family and a wide variety of pets. Visit her website at jenniferkeatscurtis.com.

Animal Helpers: Aquariums includes a wealth of information to explore the topic further. Find out more about aquatic animals through matching activities in the For Creative Minds section or go online and explore the teaching activities, even test your knowledge through quizzes.
