Sharing Science and Math around the World

Mt. Pleasant, SC (December 3, 2013)--Sylvan Dell Publishing is kicking off the holiday season with a donation to Libraries of Love, an organization that brings the joy of reading to children in Africa.

Boxes of books will arrive in Africa this season to assist the organization in building five libraries in Uganda over the next year. The small publishing house has donated thousands of books to the library organization over the past seven years. Believing that all children can spark a love for science or math at an early age, picture books from the publisher's collection are carefully selected to enhance the new libraries.

The organization's mission is to create libraries in African Schools and expand the love of reading to create lifelong learners. Uganda school libraries are not common, and Libraries of Love has provided 25 schools with libraries and books through donations and volunteers since 2005.

About Sylvan Dell Publishing

Sylvan Dell is on a mission to improve child literacy with science and math through fun to read picture books. Using prose and pictures, children are delighted with stories of their favorite animals, planets, or even places. This leads to the exploration of facts and learning activities in each book's For Creative Minds pages. Sylvan Dell carefully designs each book to portray accurately the chosen subject. Vetted by experts in that field, and aligned to common core and state standards, each book is an asset to educational programs. Sylvan Dell has grown to include more than 80 authors and illustrators, and honored to have won more than 80 book awards since its inception in 2005.
