August 15, 2012-Learning to read is one fundamental skill that so many children struggle with, and Sylvan Dell has teamed up with Book Buddy to offer 70 titles on the GoReader™ device. Early literacy education is Sylvan Dell's reason for existence, and with our science and math through literature program on the Book Buddy GoReader™, kids are able to Hear & Read™ their favorite nature stories.

By hearing each word, children are able to build their vocabulary and learn correct pronunciations of the words freeing their mind to understand the concept of each nature title more clearly. Sylvan Dell is energized to be part of this program, and happy to spread the science and math learning in a unique way to students all across the country. Sylvan Dell books are aligned to common core standards and have additional teaching materials available in our For Creative minds pages as well as online making it easy for educators to fit this new program into lesson plans.
